"The Democratic party cannot escape the accusation of being a Whiskey party."—Louisville Courier Journal.

Last Sunday's issue of the Louisville Herald contained a page devoted to a write up of Ed C. O'Rear and family. The article was well written and very much enjoyed by the readers of the Herald just at this time when the Republican nominee for governor occupies such a large place in the minds and hearts of the people.

The Courier-Journal is still charging that all tobacco growers are night riders, and that the Republicans are in league with them. Mr. Tobacco Grower, what is your plan duty under this state of case? If the Democratic ticket supported by editor Watterson is elected, it is only too plain to see where the officials will land in a contest between the tobacco growers and the tobacco trust. Farmers take notice.

The Republicans made their nomination for State officers without any inquiry as to what particular church the nominees belonged and it is safe to say that not twenty delegates know of the church affiliations of any of the ticket until after the nominations were made. However, it is interesting to note that all of the nominees are members of some church and that four of them are Methodists, two Baptists, two Christians and one Lutheran.

It is amusing to notice the insinuations of the Democratic State press against Senator Bradley and indicating that his election as United States Senator was brought about by corrupt means, when one stops to think that the Democrats have nominated one of these bolting Democrats who refused to support Beckham, for Railroad Commissioner of the Second District in the person of Hon. "Billy" Klair, of Lexington, who not only boasts of the proud distinction of having contributed somewhat to Senator Bradley's election, but is also a saloon keeper. Before the Democrats go very much further in their charges against Senator Bradley and incidental attempts to injure the Republican party they should take Hon. "Billy" Klair off the ticket.

Editor Watterson is being taken to task by the Owensboro Messenger and other Kentucky State papers for his bold admission that the Democratic party is the whiskey party in Kentucky. Well, why not? Editor Watterson is right, the Democratic party has had a majority in both houses of the Legislature since the adoption of the new constitution twenty years ago, except one time when the Republicans had a small majority in the House of Representatives, but at that time the Democrats had a safe majority in the Senate, and it was impossible for the Republicans to enact any legislation not agreeable to the Democrats. At the beginning of Governor Wilson's administration, and also at the beginning of the last session of the legislature he recommended in his message the passage of a straight out County Unit Law and announced that he was ready and willing to sign such an act, but its passage was successfully blocked by a Democratic majority in the State Senate, and blocked by the "Third House" Representatives, which is made up and supported, not only by the whiskey interest but by many other interests. Editor Watterson has much the best of the argument in this matter and will doubtless be able to take care of himself in his dispute with editor Woodson and all other comers. In the meantime the people of Kentucky will no doubt make up their minds about which party is the whiskey party.

WHY SHOULD O'REAR RESIGN?

The Democratic press of Kentucky, led by the Courier-Journal and Times is showing symptoms of serious disturbance because Judge O'Rear does not resign his position on the Court of Appeals bench in order to run for governor. The only man we ever heard of who resigned such a position to run for another office was Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, who ran for President some years ago on the Democratic ticket and who was about the worst beaten man who ever ran for office and has never held one since.

But, really, what sense is there in making such a demand of Judge O'Rear? What Democrat in Kentucky ever resigned one office to run for another? Mr. S. W. Hager, the Democratic nominee for governor four years ago ran the race through and held the position of State Auditor, and we presume drew a salary all the time and we have never heard of his being turned back into the State Treasury. At the same time and during the same campaign, Governor Beckham was the Democratic nominee for United States Senator, and did not resign. Some years ago Judge Cantrill, who was Circuit Judge of the Frankfort District, ran for Judge of the Court of Appeals and did not resign as Circuit Judge and drew his salary as Judge of the Court of Appeals for two years and during that time never sat in the court a day or tried a case. But to come down nearer to date, the Honorable Ben Johnson, came to Kentucky from Washington, last spring and for several months was an active candidate for governor. He did not resign his position as member of the House of Representatives and has shown no symptoms of resigning. Prof. Barksdale Hamlet, the present Democratic nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction, is also Superintendent of City Schools at Hopkinsville. Why not call for his resignation along with the others? It would be just as sensible to require any officer to resign his position to run for re-election. The Circuit Judge of this district was a candidate for re-election and did not resign. The same may be said of every county or district officer who runs for re-election. In view of the past performances of its representatives, it is in very bad taste for any Democrat in Kentucky to demand that Judge O'Rear resign his position on the Court of Appeals because he happens to be the Republican nominee for governor, and there is no sense or reason in such demand from any person, although they might be in better position to suggest it.

Supposin' fish don't bite at first,
What are you goin' to do?
Throw down the pole, chuck out your bait.
And say your fishin's through?
You bet you ain't, you're goin' to fish.
An' fish an' fish an' wait
Until you've latched a basket full
Or else get out of bait.
Suppose success don't come at first,
What are you goin' to do?
Throw up the sponge an' kick yourself.
An' growl an' fret an' stew?
You bet you ain't, you're goin' to fish.
An' bait an' bait an' wait.
Until success takes hold your hook,
For grit is sure to win.

PERPETUAL ONCE MORE INVENTED

Flying Machine and the Age
Running Machine Comes Simultaneously.

Can it be true that the flying machine and the perpetual motion machine are to come simultaneously to bless the people of this old world? Well, if the news coming from the capital city of this commonwealth be true, it looks just that way. When the perpetual motion machinery is made complete, that is if it has any machinery about the thing, it will be then that one may just climb on go to sleep and fly over all creation while they sleep—nothing to do or become but fly and sleep, the machine just going on ad libitum, ad infinitum.

Here is about the perpetual motion, and if there is no mistake about it, and if it does not happen that the thing only turns out to be a good fox trap or something "or neither." Like it, as many similar inventions have already been known to do, why then the world has all that it will ever need.

But read:
Frankfort, Ky., July 28.—Investigation by a large manufacturing company is being made of what is claimed to be a perpetual motion machine perfected by Noel Hodges, of Frankfort. Mr. Hodges claims that the small model which he has at his home in Holmes street has been running for eight months, without any means of propulsion outside of the power the machine generates. He claims that the machine will produce power enough to run an electric fan or small dynamo and he says he has refused an offer of $50,000 for his invention.

Hodges has been working on his invention for years, quietly and without anybody knowing what he was doing and he has just made public the fact that he has solved the problem of perpetual motion which has driven so many men to the insane asylum during the hundreds of years that the inventors have been struggling with the task. Mr. Hodges says he will not sell for $50,000, although he is poor, for he knows that his invention is worth many times that amount. He says the machine has been examined by experts and they have agreed with him that he has solved the difficult problem of making a machine that will run until it wears out without the use of springs, compressed air or any other motive power.

The invention is a wheel with steel balls at the end of rods on one side of the wheel, the weight of these being enough Mr. Hodges says, to drive the wheel on around. He says he welcomes investigations of the invention and would be glad to have anybody show him any flaw in it. It is probable that scientists from several sections of the country will come to Frankfort to examine the invention and see if it is what it is claimed to be.

Something More Than a Joke.

A Democratic friend poked fun at us because we replied to the Tribune's thrust about "prosperity" by saying the country is "enjoying" hard times because of Tariff agitation. We care naught for the joke, but really there is nothing more than a joke in it. It is a fact that there never has been a Tariff agitation that has not produced business trouble—uncertainty, lessened production, with necessary loss of employment and hard times for the common man. For three years—ever since the Republicans promised to revise the Tariff—there has existed a state of uncertainty which was not permitted to quiet down even after the Payne-Aldrich bill became a law so that the country might learn by actual experience whether it was good or not. It has had no chance. Such a continuous howl has been kept up by Democratic and insurgent politicians that

HARTFORD, - - KENTUCKY.

It was enough to condemn any sort of law, good or bad. Then came the election and defeat of the Republicans. The Democrats have continued to threaten. No wonder manufacturers do not know where they "at" or where to head in. There is no joke in all this. It is a serious matter and we have not seen the end of it, we fear.—Rockville (Ind.)
